10:30 AM – Outside AND ON ZOOM Sunday, 11th Sunday after Pentecost, Jesus is found in the synagogue on the Sabbath as was his practice. He comes across a woman who has been unable to stand up for over 18 years and heals her even though some disapprove with a legalist view that healing is work and work is forbidden. But once the woman can stand up straight, there is much rejoicing and celebrating. Is there anything to celebrate in our world today? Can we express and experience joy while bad news is a daily irritant?
